White Square Gallery Berlin

The White Square Gallery at Mauerstr. 77 has been located at the historic center of Berlin, near Checkpoint Charly since 2009. Current and international positions and new tendencies of art, photography, video, sculpture, installation, graphic arts and performance are presented in the solo or group exhibitions.

The cooperation with international guest curators and artists is an important supplementation of the gallery program.

Beyond that, the operational area of the gallery includes art intermediation as well as developing individual curatorial and designing projects for institutional and private clients.

Müller + Reitz Berlin

MÜLLER+REITZ BERLIN at Fasanenstr. 61 is a Conceptstore that addresses the culturally interested & creative man.

Fashion, art and design are equally represented and complement one another at regular art and design exhibitions.

Along with the famous German fashion designer Hannes Roether and the Italian fashion label Transit Uomo young aspiring designers, like the Munich label Hannibal, are represented. Necessary and logical additions are the shoes by the Italian label Pantanetti and the underwear by Schiesser Revival, which complete the concept of the store.

Two Window Project Berlin

Two Window Project, after many years in the making, opened its first space Torstr. 154 in Berlin-Mitte arts district in early 2010. The gallery is dedicated to showcasing works of young contemporary Berliner and international artists. Its exhibitions focus on classic art with a new twist for the 21st century with its core group of artists continually being complimented with works by guest artists in its exhibitions. The gallery also presents exhibitions and events in its project space in London.

Diko Reisen Cologne

Germany's first travel agency with integrated art gallery – Diko Reisen in Cologne – is setting new standards in the travel & lifestyle sector and leaving the classic travel agency format far behind. On the premises at Komödienstr. 48, proprietor Evangelos Kouklinos and his team offer clients a provocative, cosmopolitan and innovative concept which puts the customer's enjoyment first.

The idea for the new concept arose in collaboration with architect Roman Seissler. A gallery is set up in the middle of the room showing an artistic panorama to provide customers with inspiration long before they set off on their holidays. Photographs by selected artists instead of the usual promotional posters arouse clients' wanderlust and design and artworks encourage visitors to daydream. The exhibition is regularly changed so that there is always something new to discover. "Even if you don't intend to travel, it's always worth taking a look", promises Evangelos Kouklinos.
